Gilead Sciences, Inc.
Non-Deductible Portion of Payments to Trade Associations
January – June 2026

Gilead participates in the public policy process through its involvement with trade associations. Gilead regularly evaluates our involvement with trade associations and has established processes to address instances when an association takes a position that runs contrary to our policy interests. Below is a list of those trade organizations to which Gilead pays more than $25,000 in membership dues or other payments, and to the extent available to us, the portion of those payments that were used for activities that are not deductible under Chapter 162(e) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Trade Association	Non-Deductible Portion of Dues
Pharmaceutical Research and Manufacturers of America (PhRMA)	$5,015,969
Biotechnology Innovation Organization (BIO)	$190,925
	$5,206,894
